Panachanga floods Kolhapur, Arun in Sangli as Krishna rises

Traffic Crawls On Pune-B'loru Highway Portion

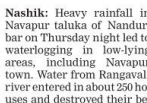

Sandip Dighe & Abhijeet Patil TNN
Pune/Kolhapur: The Panachanga and Krishna rivers in Kolhapur and Sangli respectively rose dangerously on Friday posing a flood-like situation. Panachanga River flowed above the dam level nearly 40ft at Rajaram Barrage in Kolhapur on Friday night with a discharge of 100 m³ per second.

In neighbouring Sangli, water discharge into Krishna River from Koyana dam, in Satara district and Warna dam in Sangli district threatened to inundate the city on Friday. Krishna further flooded the flatlands of Karnataka via the Rajapur barrage. If discharge from Almatni is not adequate, the water tends to flood Sangli and adjoining areas.
Meanwhile, traffic crawled on one section of Pune-Bengaluru highway between

Nandurbar river water gushes into 250 homes

Abhilash Botekar @timesofindia.com

Nashik: Heavy rainfall in Nandurbar taluka of Nandurbar on Thursday night led to waterlogging in low-lying areas, including Navapur town. Water from Rangavali river entered in about 250 houses and destroyed their belongings. Movement of trains between the Bhussawal-Satara railway route was also affected for about 10 hours. The vehicular movement on Nagpur-Satara national highway was also stopped for about eight hours due to water flowing over the bridge.
According to resident deputy collector Hatim Khan, Navapur received over 211 mm of rain in 24 hours till 8.30 am on Friday, and the bulk of it was on Thursday night. "Water levels of the Rangavali river rose rapidly. The water entered the houses around 4.30 am," he said.
"We are guarding our house and trying to collect what we possibly can," resident Razia Shaikh said.

Cops bust Meerut varsity NET exam cheating case, 3 held

Sandeep Rai @timesofindia.com

A computer in the examination lab server room had a software, giving access to solvers outside the university, said UP ADG (law and order) Amitabh Yash, the STF team discovered an additional admin computer in Subharti University server room connected via local area network (LAN) and two laptops with 'Any Desk', a remote access software, giving access to solvers outside the varsity. It also seized a cell phone from a lab employee containing the roll numbers of four candidates and their device IP addresses.

Meerut: The Uttar Pradesh Special Task Force (STF) uncovered a cheating scandal during the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) National Eligibility Test (NET) at Meerut-based university on Friday morning.
According to UP's ADG (law and order) Amitabh Yash, the STF team discovered an additional admin computer in Subharti University server room connected via local area network (LAN) and two laptops with 'Any Desk', a remote access software, giving access to solvers outside the varsity. It also seized a cell phone from a lab employee containing the roll numbers of four candidates and their device IP addresses.

Subharti University management wishes to clarify that it has no connection with the alleged cheating in the NET exam. The responsibility of conducting this exam lies with CSIR, not the university, nor has the university organised this exam. The university has leased spaces in its premises to the TCS organisation, which is handling the conduct of the exam. If any illegal activities are found during this exam, the full responsibility will lie with TCS, not with the management of Subharti University. The university management is fully cooperating with the investigating agencies to identify those involved in illegal activities.

Additional SP (UP STF) British Singh, who led the operation, said, "The IP addresses were shared with an individual outside the examination centre, enabling them to access the screens of the selected candidates and provide correct answers remotely." The STF also retrieved details of 11 candidates who appeared in the first and second shifts of the examination on Thursday from a computer in the recovered cell phone.
The varsity has denied involvement in the case. Its statement said, "The STF conducted a search operation at the NET exam centre and there were some indications of illegal activities."

RIDALC faces disqualification for 'insulting' Nitis in council

Patna: RIDJ's Sunil Kumar Singh was disqualified from Bihar legislative council on Friday for unruly behaviour towards CM Nitish Kumar in the house earlier this year, while another party MLC, Qari Sohail, was suspended for two days, reports Sheehan Nezami.

The legislative council secretary issued a notification following ethics committee's report, which was adopted by a voice vote, stripping Singh of his membership.
The action followed a complaint by MLC Bishwanath Saini against Singh and Sohail for their conduct during the budget session earlier this year. They were accused of humiliating the leader of House with their words and actions.

After reviewing video clips of House proceedings, the ethics committee found the allegations substantiated. Its report said they had entered the well, raised provocative and offensive slogans and continued to do so ignoring the chairperson's instructions.
Opposition leader Rabri Devi criticised BJP-JDU alliance over Singh's disqualification, saying their actions were "dictatorial" and had set a "wrong trend" in the state.
Singh was suspended for a day as "black for democracy".

K'taka renames Ramanagara dist 'B'loru South'

Bengaluru: Karnataka state cabinet on Friday approved the renaming of Ramanagara district as 'Bengaluru South', in a big brand-value upgrade that is expected to ignite political fire as well as boost the district's lift in infrastructure sweepstakes.

Ramanagara town, 50km from Bengaluru, will continue to serve as the district headquarters and will include the taluqs of Magadi, Kanakapura, Channarayana and Harohalli. The decision has gained momentum following a meeting led by deputy chief minister DK Shivakumar with chief minister H D Deve Gowda. "It is being done with 'Brand Bengaluru' in mind and based on people's demand. The revenue department will be in charge of the process," said law and parliamentary affairs minister HK Patil. Shivakumar is from Ramanagara. "This is a landmark operational breakthrough for JDS' leader HD Kumaraswamy. TNN

Death for 2 bros who killed sister committed to life

Pankul Sharma @timesofindia.com

Dehradun: Uttarakhand high court on the appeal against its earlier capital punishment of two siblings convicted by the trial court for murdering their 24-year-old sister committed them to life imprisonment, while exonerating their cousin due to "insufficient evidence".
In a 2014 victim's case from Laksar town near Haridwar married Brih Mohan against her family's wishes. On May 17, 2019, she was invited to her maternal uncle's house, where her brother along with the cousin hacked her to death with an axe. Following the incident, the victim's husband filed an FIR. In 2022, the additional district and sessions judge of Haridwar deemed the crime as rarest of rare and condemned the two brothers and their cousin to death.

Prison can't deny inmates right to daily bath: Cal HC

Srishti Lakhotia @timesofindia.com

Kolkata: Prison authorities cannot deny inmates a daily bath as it is a matter of basic health and hygiene, said Calcutta high court on Friday. While hearing a petition on the condition of prisoners in Bengal jails, the high court also commented on how lower courts should treat terminal ill prisoners.
The division bench of justices Joybala Bagchi and Gaurang Kanti directed prison authorities to ensure adequate washrooms and enough water supply in correctional homes.
The PIL filed early this year alleged that numerous women prisoners were getting pregnant in Bengal's jails. This was questioned by the state govt and independent NGOs. Chief Justice T S Sivagnanam assigned the bench, headed by Justice Bagchi, to hear the matter, which had multiple reports on the condition of prisoners in Bengal jails.

Justice Bagchi referred to a jail code which says: "Prisoners shall only wash their faces and hands but if prisoners are put to exceptional duty work in hot weather, they may be allowed to have a full bath." However, Justice Bagchi said, "this regulation is from 1984 and right now we are in a completely different domain." Justice Bagchi added, "We should at least not go by these regulations. The West Bengal Correctional Services Act 1962 is one of the better statutory provisions (on prisoners' rights in correctional homes.)"
About the terminally ill prisoners, HC laid out ways in which their applications for bail or parole or suspension of sentence could be considered. For undertrials, district legal service authority to take up the matter to file bail applications on medical grounds, which would be considered by courts. For convicts with appeals pending, the same authority, along with state legal services authority were directed to take out applications for suspension of sentence. For convicts with no appeals pending, govt shall consider releasing them on parole.
It was submitted that prison inmates were kept segregated and entry of males was restricted. "Even an inmate should not be denied the fundamental right to life and liberty," the bench said.

Rahul appears before UP court in defamation case, denies charges

TAMES NEWS NETWORK

Lucknow: Leader of opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi appeared before Sutanpur MP-MLA court on Friday in connection with a 2018 defamation case lodged against him for alleged objectionable remarks directed at Union home minister Amit Shah. He asserted his innocence and claimed he is a victim of a political conspiracy. Rahul's counsel Kashi Prasad Shrivastava filed a plea.
"Rahul Gandhi has denied all charges, arguing that the accusations were intended to tarnish his and his party's reputation. He has got exemption from further appearance in the court," Shukla said. The Congress MP's statements were recorded before special judge Shubham Verma and the court has now fixed Aug 12 as the next date of hearing, Shukla added.
Rahul arrived at 11 am and recorded his statement in the court for 16 minutes.
Local BJP politician Vijay Mishra had filed the complaint on Aug 4, 2018, against Gandhi for his alleged objectionable comments against Amit Shah at a party conference in Bengaluru in May that year during the Karnataka assembly elections.

10 yrs on, 2 bros get life for killing 4 over poll rivalry

Agna: A local court in Mainpuri district has awarded life sentence to two brothers for murdering four people in 2014 due to a rivalry over gram pradhan (village head) election.

Additional district and sessions judge Jahendra Pal Singh also imposed a fine of Rs 20,000 each on the duo. A complaint was filed against the duo, including Shishupal Singh, now 60, and Jagannath Singh, now 58.
Additional district govt counsel Rakesh Kumar Gupta said the other six accused including four who were minors at the time, were also charged. But, the court acquitted one due to lack of evidence. The case against the two minors is pending in juvenile court.
