In relation to the Policyholder Reservation Portion provided in the Offer, please see below a list of frequently asked questions and the responses to such questions:

Sr. No.	Frequently asked questions	Response
1.	Is it necessary for policyholders to have a demat account to apply for shares in the Offer?	Yes. As per SEBI ICDR Regulations, no equity share can be issued by any company in physical form and the equity shares can only be issued in dematerialized form. Hence, any one, whether policyholders or retail investors, should have a demat account for applying in the Offer.
2.	Is there any lock-in period for the shares purchased through the Policyholder Reservation Portion?	There is no lock-in period and the policyholders can sell the Equity Shares immediately on listing of the Equity Shares, if they choose to do so.
3.	I am having a policy in SBI Life Insurance. Can I apply for the Equity Shares of the Corporation in the Offer under the Policyholder Reservation Portion category?	No, Bidding under the Policyholder Reservation Portion is only for policyholders of our Corporation. However, you can apply under RIB or Non-Institutional Bidders category.
4.	Is there any minimum number of Equity Shares for which the policyholders need to apply?	There is a minimum number of Equity Shares (x) which will have to be applied under the Offer in respect of all categories. Hence, Eligible Policyholder(s) also have to apply for the said minimum x number of Equity Shares, as specified in the Offer Documents.
5.	What is the maximum amount which Eligible Policyholder(s) can apply under Policyholder Reservation Portion?	Eligible Policyholder(s) can apply for such number of Equity Shares in multiples of _____ Equity Shares such that the Bid Amount does not exceed ₹200,000 (net of Policyholder Discount).
6.	Is there any minimum balance of equity shares to be kept in the demat account?	No minimum balance is required like in demat account.
7.	Can a policyholder apply from the demat account of his/her spouse or son or a relative?	No. The policyholder has to have the demat account in his/her name.
8.	Is it possible to apply for shares for more than ₹200,000 (net of Policyholder Discount)?	No. The maximum Bid Amount is limited to ₹200,000 (net of Policyholder Discount, if any). However, Eligible Policyholder(s) can also apply for Equity Shares under the RIB category or Non-Institutional Bidders category for an additional amount of up to ₹200,000 (net of Policyholder Discount) and more than ₹200,000 (net of Policyholder Discount), respectively.
9.	How much is the discount for Eligible Policyholder(s) under Offer?	Eligible Policyholder(s) are offered a discount of ₹ Z per Equity Share. In case, the Offer Price (the price at which shares are allotted to retail and other investors) is ₹X, Eligible Policyholder(s) will be allotted Equity Shares at ₹ (X-Z) per Equity Share.
10.	Will the investment in Equity Shares of our Corporation qualify for tax exemption?	No, investment in Equity Shares of our Corporation does not qualify for tax exemption, as per income tax rules.
11.	At what price the Eligible Policyholder(s) should bid for within the Price Band?	Eligible Policyholder(s) can bid at the Cut-off Price. However, in that case it is necessary to keep the Bid Amount blocked for investment at the Cap Price (maximum price) net of discount, since the Cap Price may turn out to be the Cut-off Price.
12.	I have a joint life policy. Whether I and my spouse both will be eligible for reservation or not?	Only one of the two can apply for the Equity Shares under the Policyholder Reservation Portion category. The PAN number of the applicant Bidding in the Offer (you or your spouse) needs to be updated in the policy records. The applicant has to have a demat account in his/her name and in case the demat account is joint, the applicant needs to be the first /primary holder of the demat account.
